concern about the system's capacity to take on more work, noting that some recent project teams, though staffed, had members unable to dedicate the appropriate amount of time.

Decision: DOC requires more time to discuss the recommendations outlined in the report. DOC's review will continue in the new year.

Decision: DOC supports the release of the UC Linked Data Project Team report as it provides valuable context for the Jan. 2019 linked data webinars. The release should acknowledge the team's impressive work and note that the report is still under review and that no decisions have been made about its recommendations.
